About EFFECTIVE CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT

---

This workshop is designed to provide participants with the information needed to focus on the core principles and practices of classroom management. Educators will be provided with researched-based behavior management approaches and the most current thinking on effective classroom management.

This interactive workshop format will allow participants to apply learned strategies to real-life classroom concerns. Participants will be provided with powerful ways of dealing with some of the most challenging behaviors students display.

Who Should Attend?

NEW or EXPERIENCED teaching staff who would like new strategies to manage challenging behavior in the classroom.

About the Presenter:

Deb Booth, M.Ed., has over 18 years of experience working with individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorders and similar learning challenges. She has worked in residential, private, Collaborative and public school settings and has serviced children and their families through early intervention, home programming and consultation. Currently, Deb coordinates the Pilgrim Area Collaborative Extended Services (PACES) Program, which contracts with local school districts to provide direct home services to children, consultation to schools and families, assessments and evaluations and professional development. She recently completed a mentorship program at Michelle Garcia Winner's Center for Social Thinking. Deb also holds the position of adjunct faculty at Northeastern University.

Registration:

Return the attached registration form and payment of $150.00 no later than October 1st.

Register EARLY and pay only $135.00 by registering no later than September 25th.
