Your application will be used to identify the best possible candidates for participation in the SCRO Online Course Design professional development.

Your application will be reviewed to determine:

- your level of commitment to completing the coursework,
- your commitment to the pedagogy and content requirements to promote the success of middle or high school students in an online environment, and
- the benefits of your course for the students in the 88 member districts of SCRO.

Please respond to each of the following questions with 200 words or less.

What is the title of the course you are proposing?

Provide a brief course description that will be used for the program of studies.

*If proposing an AP course, are you teaching an AP course for your district already? ____
If yes, are you proposing to put that same course online or are you proposing a different AP course?

What has prompted your interest in teaching in an online environment and participating in this professional development?

Why do you consider yourself to be the best possible candidate to provide learning opportunities for students in the SCRO Virtual Learning Academy?

How will the course that you develop assist students with preparedness for college and/or career?

Provide at least 3 student outcomes from this course.

You may provide additional information to support your application.

Applications must be submitted by April 28, 2017 to Dr. Theresa Craig via email: tcraig@readscollab.org.
